

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to aqueous, buffered, fluoride containing compositions having a pH of greater than 7.0 to about 11.0. The buffered
5 compositions have an extended worklife because pH dependent attributes such as oxide and metal etch rates are stable so long as the pH remains stable.